"A College Dedicated to Academic Excellence and Professional Competence"

The Semester System

NTHMC is affiliated to Pokhara University which follows semester system in structuring the academic program and evaluating the students. The teaching during a semester is undertaken for 16 weeks; rest of the time of 26 weeks is utilized in examinations and semester end breaks.

The biggest advantage of the semester system is the practice of continuous evaluation and feedback to the students. During each semester, there are three sets of examinations administered by the college and the university. All the examinations are final examinations in the sense that the marks scored in them contribute to the final grade for the semester. There is due credit given to the behavior in terms of attendance, turnout, completion of assignments, cooperation with fellow students and teachers and interaction in the classroom. This system, in a nutshell, keeps students always on their toes during the semester and make sure that the learning is done for the life time and not only for the duration of the final examinations. The reward of the system is two carefree semester end breaks in each year to pursue other personal interests.

Another remarkable feature of the semester system is award of grades instead of raw marks to the students. The grades, which are awarded from A to D, are relative in nature rather than absolute against a maximum of 100. The philosophy behind this system is to recognize the person who performs the best in a group by awarding him a perfect grade of A and subsequently awarding other grades to other students. The grade point system is as follows:

S.No.	Grade	Honor Points	Description of the Grade
1.	A	4.0	Excellent
2.	A -	3.7
3.	B +	3.3
4.	B	3.0	Good
5.	B -	2.7
6.	C +	2.3
7.	C	2.0	Fair
8.	C -	1.7
9.	D +	1.3
10.	D	1.0	Work satisfying minimum requirements
11.	F	0.0	Fail

It is acceptable to obtain a grade of D in one subject, but in order to get the degree, the average of grades in all the subjects has to be better than C or a grade point average of 2.0 or higher. If this is not achieved, the person is not qualified to receive the degree in spite of passing all the individual subjects.

A Hospitality Industry Expert's view on NTHMC

Tourism is one of the fastest growing industries. Airfares are lower than ever and many countries open their borders to in- and outgoing travellers without too many restrictions. The number of travellers from China increases from year to year and Cuba is now open to tourists from the U.S.A., just to mention two examples.

Tourism is an important source of income and offers many job opportunities. However, there is also a negative aspect. In some countries the environment suffers from the huge number of tourists, massive real estate developments have their impact on nature and local values are destroyed. Some countries even introduce a restrictive access to their main attractions because the number of tourists is too overwhelming.

BHM, BBA and BBA-BI are the most coveted degrees pursued by the youngsters worldwide. I am really glad to hear that NTHMC has provided these internationally acclaimed degrees at a reasonable price with scholarships to deserving candidates. It will open avenues to all level of students to fulfill their cherished dreams irrespective of their economic background.

The hospitality industry forms an important part of tourism and management degree is the key foundation to economic prosperity. Sometimes, one can believe that we only communicate through the screens of our smart phones, tablets or computers but human interaction is so important those days. In the industries human interaction is a key factor to success.

Also Nepal has a lot to offer: historical and cultural sites, an ethnic heritage and a beautiful and imposing nature and the swiftly growing industries. Especially for adventure travel, there are great opportunities in this country. For those who think the possibility of opportunities and success come from the country where there are lot of challenges, Nepal is the ultimate place.

But there are threats and the country has to protect its ecosystems. The amount of trash on and around the Mount Everest shows how tourism can have a negative effect on our environment. We have to invest in the future of our children and make our world more sustainable. NTHMC offers good education for those who want to contribute to a higher level of quality tourism in Nepal and abroad. NTHMC offers both theoretical and practical classes in a green and quiet setting outside town also with recreational facilities. The city college in Pokhara town is more focused on General Management. It provides international standard degrees in Business Management which will fulfill the managerial position for the Hotel industry as well as the general industries. It is focused on the wider entrepreneurial necessities in home and abroad.
